A CUT WORK HINT.

How to Make This One of the Prettiest Embroideries.

When doing cut work, if the design is very elaborate and there are a great many bars, baste on the back of the linen a piece of plain, heavy net; cluny is the best to use. Embroider the design through both materials, but omit all the bars. When the work is complete cut out on the right side along the purled edge. This will leave a net background, where bars are usually worked. The net holds the design together and is a splendid as well as unique substitute for the little bars. The net should be very carefully basted to the linen or it will bulge in places after the material is cut away. If you transfer your designs the safest method is to first launder both the linen and net before sewing them together. Then there will be little danger in. the future of one material shrinking more than another. If a good quality of net is used it will be found more lasting than the bars. The latter have a tendency to break when laundered unless they are carefully worked with very strong thread.

How to Remove the Odor of Onions

From Pots. To remove the odor of onions from the pots in which they have been cooked, boil them in a weak solution of sal soda and afterward rinse well in warm water. To prevent the odor of onions from adhering to the hands always peel and slice them under cold running water.

WILSON'S IGNOBLE, UNSUC-CESSFUL LITTLE WARS.

President Wilson took Vera Cruz in 1914, as we were official- ly informed at the time, to get & a salute for the flag and to prevent the shipment of arms into Mexico. He did not get his salute. He did not prevent the shipment of arms. But several + hundred men were killed or 4 wounded, and then he brought + the army home without achieving either object. President Wilson sent an army into Mexico in 1916, as we were informed at the time, to get Villa "dead or alive." They did not get him dead. They did not get him alive. Again several hundred men were killed and wounded. Again President Wilson is bringing the army home without achieving his object. Of course it is a mere play upon words to say that these were not They were wars and nothing else-ignoble, pointless, unsuccessful little wars, but wars. They cost millions of dollars and hundreds of lives. squandered to no purpose. They accomplished nothing, but they were wars .- From the Speech of Colonel, Theodore Roosevelt, Delivered at Lewiston, Me., in Behalf of Charles E. Hughes.

THE NEUTRALITY OF PONTIUS PILATE +

But as soon as the need for + deeds arose Mr. Wilson forgot 4 + all about "the principle be held + + dear." He promptly aunounced + + that we should be "neutral in + + fact as wil as in name, in + + thought as well as in action," 4 between the small, weak, unof. 4 + fending nation and the large, + + strong nation which was rob- + + ing it of its sovereignty and in- + + dependence. Such neutrality has + + been compared to the neutrality + + of I ontins Pilate. This is un- + + just to Pontius Pilate, who at + + least gently urged moderation + + on the wrongdoer. - From the + 4 speech of Colonel Theodore 4 + Roosevelt, delivered at Lewis- + + ton. Me., in behalf of Charles E. + + Hughes.

Secretary Baker is developing an agility in changing his mind that must endear him to his discoverer.

When Charles E. Hughes said: "The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders," he gave an explicit characterization of the Wilson administradon's policy in one sentence.

"I want to see our public administration an honor to American ability." "Let our watchword be 'America

Buy It Now

Purchases must be made later. Why not now? At no expense to yourself you can buy now and help Uncle Sam thrive at once.

THE COUNTRY MUST INSURE ITSELF AGAINST INCAPACITY.

In his vigorous speech at Philadelphia on Monday night Mr. Hughes made an observation that should keep his countrymen thinking soberly every day until election morning, the seventh of November:

"We cannot say now in what particular sort of mess we shall find things in March next."

Here is room for disquieting speculation. The Government is in feeble hands. It is never prepared to act. In emergencies it does not know what to do, or how to begin. It is the sport of circumstances. It waits for something to turn up with a guilty feeling of incapacity to deal with untoward events. Mr. Wilson, inconstant and vacillating himself and unable to learn from experience, can obtain neither inspiration nor support from his Cabinet, which is the weakest that any President has called together since the civil war. The policy of the Demoeratic Administration is not so much watchful as fearful waiting. It is flabby, timid, procrastinating, always undecided,

So anything may happen to the nation, any disaster, any disgrace, Mr. Hughes is right: we don't know "In what particular sort of mess we shall find things in March next." The country is helpless to prevent blunders and imbecilities which may involve it in an unwelcome war or tarnish its honor; but the people can see to it that an American President with character and stamina as well as with brains is in the White House on March 4 to pilot the country through the rapids, and the people can give him a Republican Congress to provide the legislation he asks for to carry out his policies. The people can be in no doubt that the Cabinet Charles Evans Hughes selects will contain only able and efficient men, the best the country affords .- New York Sun.

The people of Vera Cruz who have erected a monument in the plaza to the Mexicans slain in battle seem to be ignorant of the fact that Mr. Wilson kept this country out of war,
